MICROMEDEX Licenses Cyber+LE Technology from Health Language, Inc.

Used for Management Of Drug and Drug-Related Information

Aurora, CO, September 5, 2002 – Health Language, Inc., the world's leading supplier of healthcare terminology tools, today announced a licensing arrangement for Health Language's advanced Knowledge Management toolset for healthcare, Cyber+LE, with MICROMEDEX, a part of The Thomson Corporation (NYSE: TOC; TSX: TOC).

"We've been successfully using the Health Language technology for over a year now and it has made a dramatic difference in our content management and our authoring environment for the content we create and deliver," said Jerry Barton, Director of Content Management Systems.

"We wanted to use concept-based indexing and this technology got us there. By adopting this technology, we've significantly improved our efficiency, our efficacy and our accuracy. We are very pleased with the technology."

"We are delighted to have MICROMEDEX as a customer," said George T. Schwend, President and CEO of Health Language, Inc. "MICROMEDEX offerings benefit a vast number of healthcare professionals. It is gratifying to know that our technology has helped them perform better, improve the overall value their products deliver to the industry and add to the overall betterment of healthcare "
