Health Language, Inc. Names New Director of Client Services

AURORA, CO USA – February 3, 2005 – Health Language, Inc., (HLI) the world's leading supplier of medical vocabulary and concept-based technology, announced today that Corinna L. Czekaj, PhD has joined the company as Director of Client Services. Dr. Czekaj has more than 15 years of experience in science and technology-related fields.

Prior to joining HLI, Dr. Czekaj held the position of Solution Architect for Arbortext, Inc. where she was the catalyst for many significant accomplishments including decreasing application deployment times by 25% – 35%, opening new markets and identifying partnership opportunities, and increasing booked revenue and margins by 25% – 50% through improved customer training and project scoping. Dr. Czekaj's broad base of experience includes solutions architecting and implementation, project and process management, digital product and application development, and process engineering. In addition to her extensive background in technology, Dr. Czekaj also has prior experience implementing HLI's language engine technology, LE™.

Dr. Czekaj will assume responsibility for client services including technical support, training, content upgrades, and installation and implementation assistance. Her focus is to establish the infrastructure and business processes to fully support the installation, administration, configuration, maintenance, customization, integration, troubleshooting, and scaling of products to support HLI's growing customer base.

John Christopherson, CTO of HLI stated "Dr. Czekaj joins us at a significant point as we strategically enhance our global services program. Our client base is growing rapidly and we are involved in large initiatives worldwide such as the NHS project in the UK in which LE has planned implementations throughout the National Programme for IT. We are confident in Dr. Czekaj's ability to strengthen our client services team and to create programs that are of great value to our clients and partners."
